

New York University Campus Director 2021

The New York City team of International Students Inc. (ISI) is actively searching to fill the missionary position of New York University (NYU) Campus Director. This position is highly strategic for the cause of global missions and disciple-making because of the large numbers of students represented. NYU has the largest international student population in the United States, approximately 18,000 students including those in their OPT year. International students make up approximately 20% of their student body. We currently have a strong relationship with NYU and partner together through a variety of programs and events, so the door is open and the field is ripe for harvest.

We are actively looking for our next Campus Director. We are seeking someone who:

- Has a passion for the nations to know and follow Jesus Christ
- Is a servant leader, able to supervise and develop existing staff
- Is able to lead a diverse team of a variety of ministries
- Values the local church and has a strong desire to partner with them to both equip and to make disciples together
- Brings an entrepreneurial skill set, willing to build on existing work and take it to the next level

It is helpful if the candidate has the following experience:

- Has supervised staff or led a team in a previous role
- Has worked cross-culturally or with international students previously
- Has completed the Perspectives on the World Christian Movement course or similar training

Our current ministries at NYU include the following:

- CCM Team (Christians Caring for Muslims) – intentional, incarnational outreach among Muslim student population at NYU
- Professional Mentoring Program – partnering local church leaders in their fields with international students for personal mentoring and growth

- English Connections – connecting international students who wish to improve conversational English abilities with Christian volunteers, serving as conversation partners or conversation group leaders. This includes a Friday 'English Café' large group gathering as well.
- International Christian Fellowship (ICF) – a fellowship of international Christian students for intentional spiritual growth and development of a life on mission with Christ
- Soul Care Sisterhood – a collection of various events designed to meet international female students who are looking for deeper connection and emotional/soul care practices. This is a platform to meet new/seeking international students.
- Established partnerships with various New York University administrative offices, including: Office of Global Services, International Student Center, Global Spiritual Life, and others. This connection is part of our ministry as we seek to be a blessing to the University and their staff, as well as our students.

Hopeful future possibilities at NYU would include the following:

- Development of a team to focus on Hindu student outreach
- Development of an internship program for development of next generation workers
- Establish additional partnerships with local churches and seminaries

This role is a fund-raising missionary position. Strong support and coaching is available to assist in raising support. Launching funds can be discussed to help the candidate get started. It IS possible, and God IS able!
